We want City Plan 2030 to require a mix of housing types and tenures – we want the plan to be prescriptive on the required mix, including the percentage requirement for family housing and support for the Private Rented Sector. Do you agree with this? - Yes / No

Short Response No

Explanation

This policy change suggests a shift from guidance on housing mix on individual sites to forming policy to insist on a mix of housing on each development. In a rapidly changing housing market and where there is a stated need to increase rapidly the number of housing units built across the city it is imperative to allow the sites which are in the most accessible locations to respond to local market demand and demographics to produce the most appropriate development for that location. Not all locations are suitable for family type housing especially sites which require to be built at significantly higher densities to make best use of scarce urban land and access to high frequency public transport. There is no need for LDP policies have such prescriptive requirements.

We want to continue to support office use at strategic office locations at Edinburgh Park/South Gyle, the International Business Gateway, Leith, the city centre, and in town and local centres. Do you agree? - Yes / No

Short Response No.

Explanation

The proposed policy on strategic office locations includes a very broad and already diverse area of South Gyle and Edinburgh Park which already includes residential and uses other than offices. The current council policies encourage a wider mix of uses in the area including residential due to the highly accessible nature of the area. This proposed preferred choice of promoting office use suggests a restriction of other uses at South Gyle when elsewhere in the plan (choice 2, map 2) it is suggested that the area could accommodate high density residential use. The proposed choice appears to go against the overarching principles and policies of the plan which seek to encourage all forms of development in the most accessible locations. South Gyle is one of the most accessible locations in Scotland with high frequency bus routes, two rail stations, a variety of cycle and pedestrian routes as well as being adjacent to the tram corridor and close to the airport and major transport hubs with all amenities to serve residential use within the neighbourhood. The area has been the main strategic office and employment location in Edinburgh for over two decades but has suffered in more recent times as it lacks a sense of identity and place with only a small amount of housing, none of which is high density. Office occupiers could be more attracted to Edinburgh Park if this area also had a large residential population which can be supportive of the employers in the area and also result in highly accessible and high density housing which will lead to far more sustainable development in a mixed use environment. The choice seems to suggest that the area will be safeguarded for office use which would be a retrograde step and unsustainable.

Choice 16 A2
