Choice 13 A

We want to create a new policy that provides support for social enterprises, start-ups, culture and tourism, innovation and learning, and the low carbon sector, where there is a contribution to good growth for Edinburgh. Do you agree with this? - Yes / No

Short Response	Yes
•	The Trust is supportive of a new policy which supports culture in Edinburgh. The city has, as noted, a strong cultural offer and international reputation including a number of theatres and other performance venues of varying scales not to mention Edinburgh Fringe which is the world's largest festival of arts. The recently produced Culture Strategy for Scotland states, ""Culture lies at the heart of successful place-making, drawing on our natural and cultural heritage, to create shared visions for the future. Cultural activities are an important economic driver in their own right, as well as increasing the interest and appeal of our built environments. By taking cultural impacts into account at an early stage, the planning system can sustain and enhance our cultural offerings." This emphasises the value of the cultural offer and sets an expectation for greater representation of culture within planning policy and decisions. It is also likely there will be increased reference to culture within the future NPF4. We would encourage the new City Plan to also provide protection for cultural facilities and venues from unnecessary loss, and to include policy setting out local interpretation of the Agent of Change principle following its insertion into the Planning (Scotland Act in 2019.

Choice 14 A

We want City Plan 2030 to support the best use of existing public transport infrastructure in West Edinburgh and accommodate the development of a mix of uses to support inclusive, sustainable growth. We will do this through 'an area of search' which allows a wide consideration of future uses within West Edinburgh without being tied to individual sites. Do you support this approach? - Yes / No
